PREFACE.

By the kind permission of the President of the Probate, etc., Division of the High Court of Justice, accorded to me through the Senior Registrar, I have been enabled to take extracts from the whole of the Wills contained in the first two books of Wills at the District Probate Registry, Wells. These number about six hundred, and are copies,[1] the originals being lost. The date is 1528–1536, though a few of the Wills bear earlier dates. It was first intended to print some of the Wills in the "Proceedings of the Somersetshire Archæological Society," but as the work went on, and grew too lengthy for the Society's volume, it was thought better to print the whole of the first two books in a separate form.

Much light is now being thrown on Church life in pre-Reformation times by the publication of early churchwardens' accounts; several of these are now being edited by the Right Rev. Bishop Hobhouse, and will form the fourth volume of the Somerset Record Society. By the kindness of the Editor, I am able to quote from p. 208 of that work the following passage relating to "the stores" of the parish of Morebath in the county of Devon: "One of the [1] There are many slips and inaccuracies on the part of the copyists. The Wills are irregular as to date and place; the arrangement in parishes has been made by the editor. The "Old Style" is kept throughout. See note, p. 2.

noteworthy features is the number of stores, each in the interest of a separate devotion, supported by an associated body, with a separate balance sheet, audit-day, and feast-day, the audit sometimes held by separate wardens, sometimes by the high-wardens. There were no less than eight separate accounts."

There is no doubt that the words brotherhood (brotherhed), gild (yeld), fraternity, store (instaurum and staurum), and service (servicium) are synonymous, and these Wills show that in some parishes such "associated bodies" were very numerous.

At the end of this preface I have appended a list of parishes, showing their several "Devotions," from which it will be seen that Cutcombe (pop. 564) had nine stores, Dulverton (pop. 1337) had twelve stores, Luxborough (pop. 418) had five stores, Winsford (pop. 485) had nine stores, Wootton Courtney (pop. 278) had six stores. In each case the population given is that of to-day.

In proof that all the above terms are synonymous, I may refer to the case of Stoke Gomer. The Brotherhood of our Lady of Stoke Gomer is spoken of as "Fraternitas B. M." (p. 152), "instaurum B. M." (p. 153), "our Lady servys" (p. 154), and "the Stowre of our Lady" (p. 154). The "Store of our Lady," or "our Lady Service," will be found to exist in most of the parishes under notice. The store of St. Katherine or light of St. Katherine is mentioned in seventeen parishes.

The Dead Light[1] and the Almes Light.[2]—It was not

[1] A light kept burning in memory of the dead.

[2] The Alms light was one of the stores of Morebath (Devon). See until this book was printed [1] that I became aware that these lights were identical; I base the supposition on pp. 152, 154. At p. 152, Rob[t] Swytynge leaves iiij[d] apiece to the v lights of Stoke Gomer, the lights of the B. M., St. Anthony, St. George, St. Christopher, and lumen elimozinarum; while at p. 154, Joan Laurens leaves xx[d] and a ryng to "our lady service in Stoke Gomer," and iiij[d] apiece to the lights of St. Anthony, St. George, St. Christopher, and the Dead Light. Again, in the case of Brushford, the lumen elemosinarum of p. 33 is, without doubt, the same as the lumen defunctorum of the other Brushford Wills.

The table below shows the names by which this light is called in these Wills, and the number of times each name is used.

Times.
11	Allsolen Light. Ashbrittle, p. 1; Bagborough, p. 5; Bradford, p. 11; Brompton Ralph, p. 30; Charlinch, p. 47; Heathfield, p. 90; Nettlecombe, p. 110; Nynehead, p. 112; Oke, p. 112; Treborough, p. 173; Trull, p. 175.
1	Alsolen Store. Cothelstone, p. 62.
4	Lumen Animarum. Elworthy, p. 81; Fiddington, p. 87; Huish-champflower, p. 93; West Quantockshead, p. 136.
1	Almes Light. Cutcombe, p. 71.
4	Lumen Elemosinarum. Bicknoller, p. 9; Brushford, p. 33; Chipstable, p. 57; Stoke Gomer, p. 152.
6	Dead Light. Clatworthy, p. 59; Dulverton, p. 73; Dunster, p. 80; Holford, p. 93; Stoke Gomer, p. 154; Wootton Courtney, p. 202.
1	Lumen Mortuum. Brushford, p. 33.
2	Lumen Mortuorum. Luxborough, p. 103; Whitestanton, p. 195.
3	Lumen Defunctorum. Brushford, p. 32; Exton, p. 86; Winsford, p. 196.
1	Lumen pro Defunctis. Elworthy, p. 81.
[1	Lumen in Perpetuum.[2] Meriet, p. 104.]

Somerset Record Society, iv. 208. Some think that the meaning is soul-light (pour les âmes).

[1] Hence the notes on pp. 1, 9, 33, etc., are inadequate.

[2] It is not certain that this is the dead light.

I beg to thank very heartily all my friends and correspondents for their kind help, and especially the Right Rev. Bishop Hobhouse, who has ever been willing, even in the midst of his own work, to help me in mine; and the Rev. F. C. Hingeston-Randolph, Rural Dean, Rector of Ringmore and Prebendary of Exeter, who has most kindly read these pages as they were issued from the press, and has given me much very valuable information.

(1) Or Jeymson.

(2) Aubrey thus describes a Whitsun ale: "In every parish was a church-house, to which belonged spits, crocks, and other utensils for dressing food. Here the housekeepers met. The young people were there too, and had dancing, bowling, shooting at butts, etc." A tree was erected near the church door, where a banner was placed, and maidens stood gathering contributions. An arbour called Robin Hood's Bower was also put up in the churchyard (Fosbroke's "Antiquities," ii. 653). The Guardian (Aug. 21, 1889) contained an interesting paper on the old "Church-house."
